OVERDUE TB TESTS AND CROSS COMPLIANCE REDUCTIONS

With effect from 1st January 2014, DEFRA is strengthening the financial penalties to be applied on farmers who have overdue surveillance or 'check' TB tests. The AHVLA will be providing the RPA with details of all farmers who have overdue (one day or more) tests. The RPA will then apply a cross compliance reduction to the affected farmer's CAP Scheme (SPS and Rural Development) payments.

The severity of reduction applied will depend on how long the TB test is overdue. In general, the following will apply:-

- TB test overdue by 1-10 days – 1% reduction
- 11-30 days – 3% reduction
- More than 30 days – 5% reduction

If however the cross compliance breach is felt to have been caused intentionally, more severe reductions may be applied.

Further information is available in the DEFRA Bovine TB Information Note, "Strengthening Cross Compliance TB Controls – Financial Penalties for Overdue TB Tests".
