JACK'S JOURNEY

Lodge & Thomas welcomed Jack Walton to Truro Livestock Market on Wednesday, as the final destination of his seven week charity fundraising challenge, seeking to support and promote two great agricultural charities: the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution (RABI), and the Royal Scottish Agricultural Benevolent Institution.

Jack embarked on an inspirational journey which included visits to 25 livestock markets, between his starting point at Dingwall Market in the North Highlands of Scotland, to his final destination in Truro. Jack used his tour to publicise the work of the charities and obtained donations during the process.

Eighteen year old Jack is due to start an undergraduate degree in Land Management at the Royal Agricultural College and has a life-long ambition to become a livestock auctioneer.

At each of the markets Jack requested that he have the opportunity to auction at least one pen of sheep. During his visit to Truro Livestock Market Jack auctioned the first pen of finished lambs of the day, a pen of 40kg Suffolk x lambs which realised £75.

Following his visit to Truro, over £7,000 had been raised for the charities!

Lodge & Thomas were delighted to support Jack in this fantastic challenge, where he has not only demonstrated his determination to fulfil a career as a livestock auctioneer, but has accomplished a truly remarkable fundraising achievement.
